

Ms. Tim calls the balls

Barman Paul

Timberlina

Bingo Pub Night

12.01.09

A tipsy Timberlina introduced another round of 'BINGO, in a PUB, at NIGHT!' last Monday. Dressed in a wonderful London Underground jumper and wearing beads the size of testicles, Ms. Timberlina launched an appeal for the return of her Cher doll, which was viciously nabbed from the stage at last week's round of number crunching. Posters offering a 'pawltury reward' in return for the doll were displayed throughout the RVT, but after making an emotional plea on stage to no avail, our favourite bearded lady downed four consecutive shots just to block out the pain.

As the bingo began, winning punters were treated to prizes including a fabulous fly swat, smokers' incense sticks and some Scholl toe protectors (size: small). Hey Baylen and 50 Pence were on the decks throughout the night and Timberlina spent her time sipping cider and musing on subjects as diverse as Palestine, Madeleine McCann, when it's acceptable to fart in front of a new boyfriend and how many wedges of lime it's appropriate to have in a drink when there are people starving in the world.

After rocking out to Bon Jovi's 'Livin' on a Prayer' with a blow-up guitar and grumbling about her inflamed hip, she quickly diffused a brawl that almost broke out over one of the evening's finest prizes, a mug emblazoned with the words 'I Love Sex'.

Finally, barman Paul treated us to a rendition of Nina Simone's 'Feeling Good' and we all made our way home with our prizes safely tucked away in our handbags.

• Bingo Pub Night is on this Monday (19 Jan) from 7pm (eyes down at 8.30pm) until midnight at the RVT, 372 Kennington Lane, Vauxhall, SE11.

Photographs © Alexander Corrie/www.becomingart.com